Climate finance transparency as an enabler of effective NDC 3.0 implementation

Date: Friday 13 November
Time: 16:45–18:15
Room: Side Event Room 1 – GORDIYON
Language: English, French and Spanish with simultaneous interpretation

Developing countries are strengthening climate finance transparency to engage national stakeholders, build trust with donors and investors, effectively manage resources and meet Paris Agreement reporting requirements. Climate finance transparency is increasingly recognized as an essential tool and opportunity for implementing commitments under the Paris Agreement.

This high-level event at COP31 will explore how climate finance transparency supports the effective implementation of Nationally Determined Contributions (NDC 3.0). Drawing on real country experiences, it will highlight how transparency helps identify financing needs, track finance flows, strengthen investment cases, and mobilize public and private finance. It will showcase countries' efforts and progress, and inform COP31 participants about available pathways and resources to strengthen climate finance transparency frameworks.

The event is organized under the banner of #Together4Transparency.
